High House Production Park

This studio is part of a purpose-designed three-storey studio building comprising 39 self-contained studios and four work/live units. The building was developed in partnership with High House Production Park Limited and part-funded by Arts Council England's capital fund. The 14-acre High House Production Park is a world-class centre for technical skills, crafts and artistic production and includes the Royal Opera House Bob and Tamar Manoukian Production Workshop and the National Skills Academy Creative & Cultural Backstage Training Centre.
